

out of site

"Out of Site" is an exceptional organic co-fermented wine from the Chabot Vineyard in Santa Barbara County. This ground-breaking wine is a 50/50 mix of Petite Sirah and Petite Manseng that showcases an intense flavor profile while remaining at a much more moderate alcohol level.

What makes "Out of Site" so unique is the way it's co-fermented, which brings out the best characteristics of each varietal. On the nose, this wine immediately impresses, revealing an intensity of dark fruit such as blackberry and black cherry that blend seamlessly with hints of spice and herbs. On the palate, this wine is full-bodied, rich in texture, and features silky tannins that are well integrated, resulting in a smooth mouthfeel.

This wine's moderate alcohol level is commendable since it allows the wine to remain versatile enough to pair well with a variety of foods, making it a popular choice among wine enthusiasts. Only six barrels of this exceptional wine exist, and it's a rare treat to find it.

In summary, "Out of Site" is a wine that speaks to innovation and the willingness to experiment with new techniques in winemaking. The wine will impress even the most discerning of wine lovers with its rich complexity of flavors, and it's an excellent example of how organic farming practices and careful winemaking techniques can result in truly exceptional wines.
